The football equivalent of the old adage about the inevitability of death and taxes is that every player will one day become an ex-player.

Irrespective of how long or successful an individual's career may have been, all spend longer retired than they did playing.

Some former League footballers are recognised as iconic champions of the sport and become household names. Others move into the media, some have developed into well-known businessmen and others delve into coaching or administrative roles.

Additionally, there are thousands who simply drift out of the public eye.

Genuine superstar or modest journeyman, all have made their contribution to the SANFL's rich history and all have a story to tell.

CHRIS KLUZEK – EAGLES

An arthritic, cartilage-bereft right knee not only forced talented Woodville-West Torrens full-forward Chris Kluzek's shock SANFL retirement, shortly after his 23rd birthday, it also prevented him from entering the police force and fulfilling his ambition of becoming a forensic scientist.

"I've had six cleanouts on the knee ever since I ripped the whole cartilage off the bone when I was 15," said Kluzek, who played 70 League games for the Eagles from 1997 to 2001.

"I'd always planned to be a police officer and applied after I finished playing, but because of my knee I couldn't get in and the same happened when I applied in 2008."

Instead, Kluzek has travelled extensively, predominantly backpacking. He has visited more than 30 countries and now works as a travel agent for Escape Travel in Glenelg.

Between overseas journeys, Kluzek stood at full-forward briefly for Scotch O.C. in 2005 before later becoming player-coach for SMOSH West Lakes in the SAAFL.

Unable to do much running these days, he has maintained his fitness by rowing surfboats competitively for Grange Surf Club - until a nasty road cycling accident saw him break his collar bone earlier this year, putting him on the outer for the time being.

Kluzek still attends Eagles games, with brother Matt (a former SANFL Eagle and AFL Crow), his fiancée's father (ex-Woodville big man John Coudraye) and his cousin Grant Reubenicht (1997 Glenelg Club Champion).

"We go to watch; usually have a beer on the hill and attend some of the past players' shows," Kluzek said.

The 32-year-old, who played in two losing SANFL Grand Finals, came within a whisker of claiming the 2000 Ken Farmer Medal, which went to West Adelaide spearhead Adam Richardson.

"We were playing North, who were the bottom side, compared to West playing (reigning premier) Port Adelaide, who had the State full-back (Corey Ah Chee).

"We were both on 60 (goals) at the start of that round, so it came down to whoever kicked the most that day.

"I had only one (goal) at half-time and when we came back out in the second half, one of the ump's told me Richo had eight in the first half (Richardson booted 12 of the Bloods' 17 goals that day).

"I'd heard the Westies boys looked after him and were feeding him all day, but we were focused more towards the Finals."

BARRY HEARL – NORTH

Barry Hearl led North Adelaide's goal-kicking in 1969 and '74. But on one forgettable afternoon at Woodville in 1972, his kicking boot was uncharacteristically astray, a fact of which he was cheekily reminded of when interviewed by Roosters legend and long-time teammate, Barrie Robran, during a club luncheon.

"Barrie mentioned that game at Woodville and asked me what (score) I kicked," Hearl said.

"I said 'Barrie, you shouldn't be interviewing me, I should be interviewing you', but he never wanted to talk about himself.

"I sprayed them a bit and kicked 1.9, so I said I kicked 2.3 - that's still 15 points. Barrie said 'no you didn't' ... he eventually got it out of me.

"I thought I'd be playing on my normal half-forward flank but our regular full-forward Dennis Sachse was dropped to the Bs - where he kicked 10.1 - and our trainer told me to pull my finger out as I'd be playing full-forward.

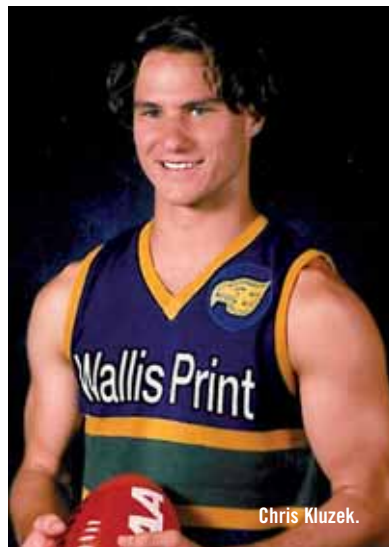

"It was just one of those days ... I ended up getting moved and stood Malcolm Blight (who won the Magarey Medal that year) in the second half."

Thankfully, such afternoons were few and far between for Hearl, who was more renowned for the goals he did kick, having averaged around two majors per game throughout his seven-year, 101-match career.

The enigmatic goalsneak also won two premierships with North (1971-72) and played in the famous 1972 Champions of Australia win over Carlton before retiring in 1974, aged just 26.

"After playing mainly in good sides, we had a bad year in '74 as a lot of our good players left," said Hearl, who in his day was elusively quick, could take a high mark and, by his own admission, was "built like a crowbar", at 6-1 and 11.5 stone (73kg).

"They asked me to stay but I wasn't interested in getting games up in losing sides.

"I was a bit casual, a bit of a rebel ... Patto (coach Mike Patterson) used to just shake his head at me."

So Hearl left to play for Kybybolite in the KNTFL in the south-east, where he claimed two Mail Medals, before spending time playing and coaching at Elizabeth, Brahma Lodge and Campbelltown-Magill.

These days Hearl, 63, works in roofing maintenance for building company Metal-Link, attends most of North's home games, often with Jan Lindner, the widow of Hearl's good friend, Roosters legend Don Lindner, and enjoys "a few red wines" at club functions.

Hearl famously kicked the historic first-ever League goal at AAMI Stadium in the first match played at the ground in May 1974.

"We've re-enacted it a couple of times and I've spoken about it at a few luncheons," he said.

Barry Hearl.

"During one re-enactment I was on the ground with Tony Casserly (Central's captain-coach in 1974, who was credited with the first hit-out) and we hadn't really met before.

"They gave me this flat footy to kick a goal. I was on the 50m line and being 30 years older, with the fat guts now, I thought ... let's bring it in to 10 yards out instead!"

GENE CHIRON - BULLDOGS

Gene Chiron played in that landmark 1974 game for the Bulldogs and could easily have been the man participating in such re-enactments... except his first shot at the new stadium went through for a behind, allowing Hearl to create history shortly after.

"Even if I'd kicked it, I would have given it to Rick Vidovich who kicked the first goal in the Reserves," said Chiron, now 61.

Hard and uncompromising, 179cm Chiron was recruited from Hawthorn and used by Central in a variety of positions, including as an undersized centre half-forward.

Courageous Chiron's footy philosophy was simple.

"Run in and get the damn thing - that's the only way I knew," he said.

"I wasn't that tall but I was pretty fit and could run all day.

"Even at Hawthorn during our 'Kennedy's Commandos', I would often get the pre-season awards for being the best trainer."

Feeling discontented after yo-yoing in and out of the Hawks' senior side (he played 37 VFL games from 1969-73), Chiron joined the Dogs in 1974 after he'd impressed Casserly and Lyndon "Beefy" Andrews during a televised carnival in Western Australia.

"I remember the first pre-season training session with Central, we'd stop to sit in the shade under a tree for a rest," said Chiron, who has worked as a civil engineer for Knox City Council in Melbourne's east for the past 30 years.

"We would never have done that at Hawthorn under John Kennedy, but he was way ahead of his time."

Chiron played 31 games for the Dogs inside two seasons, before his career ended tragically when he collided with West Adelaide enforcer Ray Hayes in the first quarter of a heated clash at Elizabeth.

"Ray Hayes kneed me in the stomach and put me in hospital - split my liver," Chiron said.

"I was knocked heavily the week before - rabbit-chopped in the back and kidney against North while breaking away from a pack and my liver was actually severed then, but the Ray Hayes one was more dramatic and put me in hospital ... I could have been in real strife."

Chiron collapsed and was carried from the ground on a stretcher before being taken to Lyell McEwin Hospital and later transferred to Royal Adelaide, where he underwent surgery for a lacerated liver and had a kidney removed.

"It was unfortunate ... but sh*t happens," Chiron said. "It just means I've got one good kidney now and I get to drink a bit more."

Forced into retirement, Chiron

stayed at the club as Gary Window's assistant and then fitness coach for a couple of years before moving to back to Melbourne where "itchy feet" and a call from former teammate, Hawks defender Ian Bremner, saw him play a few years for Mulgrave in the Eastern Districts Football League.

Chiron was fitted with a protective girdle to safeguard his internal organs.

In 2009 he was invited by Central to toss the coin before the start of a game and is well aware of the Bulldogs' recent premiership exploits.

Chiron is a member of Hawthorn's Past Players and Officials committee, having played alongside some famous names at Glenferrie Oval, including David Parkin, Peter Hudson, Don Scott and Leigh Matthews, who Chiron rates "the best footballer I've ever seen".

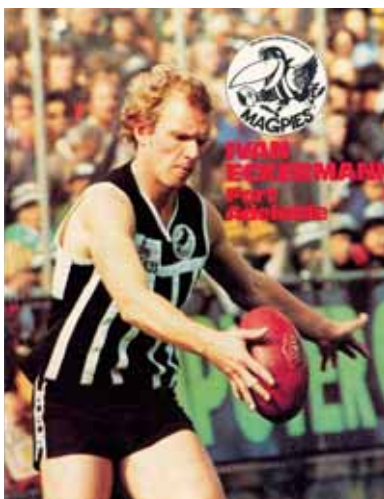

IVAN ECKERMANN – PORT

Rugged Port Adelaide defender Ivan Eckermann has the unique distinction of being the only player to have knocked the great Matthews unconscious during the Hawthorn legend's long, decorated career, a fact acknowledged by Matthews himself in his biography.

"We both went for the footy, he slipped over and my knee collected him in the head," Eckermann recalled of the second quarter incident during the South Australia versus Victoria State of Origin clash of 1982.

"It was just one of those accidental things."

By his own admission, Eckermann was "pretty lucky to be in the right place at the right time" when he reflects on his 150-game career

(1974-83), in which he played in four Grand Finals (1977, 1979, 1980 and 1981) and won them all (he missed the unsuccessful 1976 decider).

"1977 was the most memorable as we hadn't won (a premiership) for 12 years, so it ended a fair drought," Eckermann said.

"I was playing at half-back in that Grand Final and went off early with a corked thigh.

"Darrell Cahill was off with a hamstring and when Kym Kinnear was knocked out, we were down to 17 fit men.

"(Ashley) McKay (runner) came running into the dressing room and screamed at me to get back out there... I was the least injured of the three, so I had no choice."

Sitting in the rooms with an ice pack on his thigh, his boots off and his jacket undone, Eckermann was quickly patched up, had some heavy bandaging applied to his badly bruised thigh and sent to a forward pocket.

Virtually on one leg, Eckermann soldiered through the pain barrier to memorably boot three goals and help steer the Magpies to an epic eight-point victory over Glenelg.

"It was great to be part of a very successful era," he said. "We were taught the Port way which was to be hard and tough at the footy and if an opponent was between you and the footy, you'd take out a body."

Eckermann was one of those guys who improved as his career wore on, playing just 24 matches over his first five years, before adding a further 126 across the next five.

He mentored the likes of Gavin Wanganeen, Simon Tregenza and Darren Mead as Port's U17s coach from 1988-90, is a life member of both the Power and the Magpies, and lives over the back fence from long-time teammate Greg Phillips in West Lakes.

The 56-year-old accrues "a lot of frequent flyer points" travelling around Australia in his role as Sales Director for National Foods, meaning "I can't get to as many games as I'd like".

Although he never won a best and fairest, or got within a country mile of claiming a Magarey Medal, Eckermann is still held in a high esteem at Alberton.

SUPPORTER STORIES

Over the past two weeks we ran an intriguing piece about some of the SANFL's most dedicated supporters. We received a number of emails about some other loyal supporters.

We have chosen to give The Phantom the week off to collect his thoughts and run one of these stories and also an update to South supporter, Maxine McPherson's story.

If you have your own stories or have a follow up email to the blast from the past story in this week's issue drop us a line – we would love to hear from you.

Stuart Shaw

Fifty-nine-year-old Stuart Shaw has been a Sturt supporter all his life and this is his story:

"My love of the Sturt Football Club began as a 10 year old when my late father took me to a game against West Adelaide in 1962. We got thrashed by Westies and to complete the misery I got cleaned up by a mob of older kids chasing a football when I ventured on to the ground during the half time break.

Bruised, bloodied and sobbing, I moaned to dad, "Why do we have to follow such a weak team?" He replied, "Be patient, son, we have Jack Oatey as coach and should improve." He was right on both scores. I had to be patient, as he didn't take me to another game for five years! And, of course, Jack Oatey became a legend at the Sturt Football Club.

Back in the late '50s, early '60s I was probably the only Sturt supporter at Forbes Primary School and constantly wore the taunts from the Port and West supporters who seemed to be in the majority.

"Sturt, Sturt rub them in the dirt" was the common phrase from them. By the time I reached high school at Marion High, there seemed to be mainly Sturt, South and Glenelg supporters present. My four mates were all Glenelg supporters and I remember the 1969 Grand Final where we all camped out in front of the gates to ensure we would be on the fence for the game. My mates were quite shattered when their beloved Tigers failed, but I was rapt. We had driven to the game in one car (not mine) and as I wanted to watch the blue boys run around with the cup, my mates left me there. I had to catch the train home. Dad was ropeable when I got home (for some reason he didn't go to that game), but all my mates came around the next day to apologise.

I was lucky living through what was to become Sturt's golden era, when Premierships just seemed part of everyday life at Unley. I still have vivid memories of most of the brilliant players of the Jack Oatey era. Paul Bagshaw, who surely should have won at least one Magarey Medal, Keith Chessell, John Murphy, Darryl Hicks, Doc Clarkson, Rick Schoff, Roger Rigney, Michael Graham, Rick Davies.. I could go on and on. The 1976 Grand Final win was probably the best game I ever saw, the 1978 loss to Norwood the most disappointing in a year where we lost only one minor round match and blew the Grand Final with terrible goal kicking 14-26 to 16-15 – nine more scoring shots. I have never blamed the umpire for that one.

I have been a member since 2000, and joined the Vice-Presidents this season. I really enjoy the camaraderie that exists between supporters and the approachability of the players. Hopefully, the Double Blues will become a power again, soon. Local footy, you just can't beat it."

Maxine McPherson

South supporter Maxine McPherson's story ran last week and it has come to our attention a couple of errors with regards to her history – please see an email from her below.

"I would like to thank you for writing about me in last week's Budget, which I purchased on the weekend when we beat Sturt. I would just like to point out the mistake in the write up.

You had me as canteen manager for 27 years, I was the Marketing Manager for 25 years. Then after retirement became a volunteer and worked in the Canteen and BBQ, then this year became the Canteen & BBQ Manager. Your write ups have been great and very interesting and I commend you for your highlighting some of the great supporters of the SANFL Football Clubs."

TIK TOK, MURPHY'S ON TOP

Don't be fooled by his age, his lack of experience or even his questionable taste in music.

22-year-old South Adelaide captain Nick Murphy, the youngest skipper in Panthers' history and the youngest current captain in the SANFL by some margin, is undaunted by the job at hand.

South coach Ron Fuller, after seeking recommendations from the playing group and his coaching staff, selected Murphy to replace the retired Ben Warren as Panthers captain in March. He is supported by an equally youthful leadership group comprising vice-captain Brad Crabb, Andrew Horne, Nick Liddle, Xavier Gotch and Jacob Crate.

"I consider myself a fairly well-respected leader at the club," said first-year skipper Murphy.

"I'm comfortable that I've got everyone's support and there are a lot of natural leaders at the club who I can gain knowledge and advice from, so in that respect I don't find it (captaincy) intimidating."

And why would he? Combine the fearlessness of youth with his own impressive leadership résumé, which includes captaining Strathalbyn to a mini-colts grand final and a junior-colts premiership, skippering South's Under-15s and leading Rostrevor College's First XVIII in his final year of high school, and he's as ready-made as they come.

"I wasn't surprised to get it (captaincy) because I was aware I was in the running," Murphy said.

"I have experienced leadership roles in the past and consider myself a good leader for my age.

"But when it was announced, I was extremely proud and honoured, and it's something I hold very close to me."

Taking charge of an even younger group in his part-time work supervising kids at Norwood Community Crèche Centre, Murphy is also into his third year at university, where he is studying a double degree in education and human movement at Mawson Lakes with the end goal of becoming a P.E. teacher.

Noticeably, Murphy's level of maturity belies his tender years ... well, that is until the conversation turns to his feelings for US pop singer-songwriter Ke$ha.

"I do have a sneaky like for her ... I don't mind her," laughed Murphy, who is rumoured to have bought a number of Ke$ha DVDs in Bali, while he was over there with his South teammates during an off-season footy trip.

Nick Murphy.

"I have caught a glimpse of her live ... but I've only got one poster of her."

As enthusiastic as he is about Ke$ha, it doesn't compare with Murphy's passion to improve his own game and become a long-term, successful leader at Noarlunga.

"I'd like to improve my disposal, get better at hitting targets and work further at developing my clearance work as well as continue developing as a leader," he said.

"I do get vocal on the field and I pride myself on motivating and trying to bring the team up if they're down.

"It's an exciting time and the future looks bright for the club, but we need to become consistently successful and I don't want to use the fact we're young as an excuse for lapses and losing games.

"We are young and we've got a lot to learn, but with this (leadership) group, we are looking to have long-term success into the future."

WUNDKE BOOTS A BAG

South dynamic forward Michael Wundke kicked eight goals as he guided his team to a comfortable 29-point win over Sturt on the weekend.

Wundke was dominant for the Panthers, taking 15 marks and collecting 22 possessions including 16 kicks and six handballs.

The Panthers, who have claimed the last two wooden spoons, are in the mix to play Finals football.

The boys from Noarlunga face a tough test this weekend as they host Norwood, who are looking to rebound after its loss to the Eagles.

Wundke's eight goal haul places him in the lead for the Ken Farmer Medal and also earned him five votes in the 'be active' Star Player and R.O. Shearman Medal.

Judged by members of the SANFL's 200 Club on a 5-4-3-2-1 basis for every minor round match, the award carries with it a $3000 first prize.

POWERADE STAR SEARCH AWARD

CHRIS BONNEY – WEST

Chris Bonney of the West Adelaide Football Club is this week's Powerade Star Search winner. His solid work rate and ability to continually force a contest were the qualities that earned him the award for the week. The 19 year old, who originates from the Barmera Monash Football Club, has had a strong year in the Reserves this season. In his League debut against Centrals at Playford Alive Oval last weekend, his versatility was his strength as he played a somewhat unfamiliar role at centre half forward and finished with seven kicks, seven handballs, five marks and one goal.
